Enlistees: Stop, Look, Read

A new basic policy has been announced by General Marshall, Secretary of Defense, for the enlistment in the armed forces by college students.

"Under the new policy a young man called by Selective Service during the academic year could continue his studies and still maintain the right to designate his choice of service by enlisting in the period beginning 90 days before the termination of the school year and ending 30 days before the termination date. Services accepting enlistments during this two months period would not call the students to duty until they had finished their school year."

General Marshall emphasizes the importance to the nation of maintaining a vigorous educational system and eliminating the unsettled conditions that have developed on many campuses as a result of large-scale enlistments by men who wanted to enlist before they received their Selective Service calls. College students are urged to enroll in the Army, Navy, or Air Reserve Officers' Training Corps. R.O.T.C. is a fundamental element in all departments of defense which are planning for expansion and maintenance of the armed forces. For this reason, General Marshall said, "The Selective Service Act defers from induction through its provisions all select R.O.T.C. students in college who sign agreements to accept commissions and to serve a minimum of two years on active duty in the military service for which they are being trained." General Marshall stressed that all R.O.T.C. students who successfully fulfill the training and physical requirements are assured of commissions in the regular or reserve components of the armed forces.

Dr. Wilkins has announced that it is desirable for all men who intend to enlist to do so between the 30 to 90 day period before the official end of the semester, June 14. In other words, all enlistments should be made approximately two months before the end of the semester. If this policy is followed, there is still a chance to enlist in your chosen branch of service and your college career will be in a better status.

Beginning in the March issue, the REFLECTOR will start a Service Men's column. This column will serve as an informative link between students, friends, and faculty. All those who have any information concerning our students now in service, please contact the paper.

Sophs Visit J.C. Handicap School

On Wednesday, January 17, 1951, the sophomore class under the supervision of Mrs. Doele, took a trip to the A. Harry Moore School in Jersey City. Since the class was so large, it was necessary for them to go in two different groups—one in the morning, and the other in the afternoon.

The school has facilities for cardiac cases, and orthopedically handicapped children. Cerebral palsy and polio-crippled children are given therapy treatments as well as schooling. There is also a special class for children who have double handicap.

After the sophs toured the school, Mr. Hopkins, the principal of the school, spoke to them. They returned with a feeling of wonder in seeing how these children are helped to adjust themselves to society.

Frosh Plan Show

During the past few weeks, the Freshman Class held a series of meetings to discuss their class show.

Two themes were suggested. Bill Shustrin's Parisian theme was the one finally decided upon instead of the nickelodeon theme. The committees have been formed and will begin their work as soon as the casting has been completed. Gertude Hayes, chairman of the planning committee, will do the casting. Arthur Frielinghaus is the accompanist for the tryouts.

The students were amazed to find that their best "pals" possessed such unknown talent. Judging by the talent displayed at the tryouts, this year's freshman show should be one to be remembered.

Stevens, '46 Grad, Exhibits Art Work

Edward Stevens of the class of '46 is holding an exhibition of his Mexican paintings at the Weyhe Gallery on Lexington Avenue in New York. The show opened on January 27 and will remain open until March 7.

The show is featuring gouaches, oils, and drawings. Some of his paintings being exhibited are "Mexican Masquerade," "Cuernavaca," "Mexican Pastoral," and "Aztec Zephyr."

This will be our enterprising young artist's eighth art showing. Articles about Ed have appeared in House and Garden, December, 1947, and Newsweek, February 16, 1948. In the March 20, 1950 issue of Life which ran an article on young American artists, Ed's picture was on the cover and his work was described in the story.

Assembly Topic To Be 'Hobbies'

Edwin A. Rowlands selected as "speaker of the year" by 98 per cent of his audiences, will be guest speaker at our February 8 assembly. His topic will be "Hobbies Are My Business." In this new, exciting, humorous and educational program Mr. Rowlands relates his experiences in meeting such famous people as Albert Einstein, Henry Ford, Hellen Keller, Ignace Paderewski, Grandma Moses,

Sophs set scene for "Roaring Twenties."

Frances Glessner Lee, Babe Ruth, Herbert Hoover, F. D. Roosevelt, Lily Pons and others. He will also explain the various pages from his autograph books.

Mr. Rowlands received his higher education at the University of Pittsburgh. He has been featured in the Saturday Evening Post, Time, Look, and Coronet. He has also been guest star on the following network radio programs: Hobby-Lobby, Believe-it-or-not Ripley, The Vitalis Hour, Breakfast in Hollywood, and Welcome Travelers. He is also author of the book, "Let's Ride a Hobby" and creator of the popular card game, "Autographs."

Art Linkletter (of People are Funny fame) has this to say about Mr. Rowlands: "Ed. Rowlands proves everyday that 'People are funny' — and interesting."

Students to Buy N.S.T.C. Jackets

Mr. D'An, in cooperation with the Student Council, is giving the students a chance to purchase school jackets so "we can all have something alike." The girl's jackets are grey wool with blue piping and the cost is $14.75, plus the emblem. The boy's jackets are $7.25 plus $.90 for letters.

Also on sale will be "T" shirts with school lettering which will cost $1.00. Sweat shirts will be sold for $2.00.

The Student Council is hoping to get the orders in soon, so we can

Soph Show Captivates Audience With Sparkling Flapper Setting

Congratulations, sophomores, on your show about the roaring twenties which you presented on January 18. There wasn't a dull moment from beginning to end. It showed a lot of hard work, good talent, and a very keen sense of humor. It almost made you wish that you had lived thirty years ago (the students, that is). Although the clothes were different, they still had their ice cream stores, their Mr. Touchdown, and their cheerleaders.

Just what kind of an animal did Bob Carter have to kill to get that coat he wore, and a hat to match no less. Hank Goehl, as Charlie Chaplin, looked like the old boy himself, but underneath it all your reporter still pictures him with the Warden band around his arm and the club in his hand during freshman hazing.

How did Larry Buchner manage to get into the male chorus, after portraying a female? Did you forgive him boys, or should the girls do the forgiving?

Funny thing what a shadow can do! At least so thinks Bob Mac-Kennin. It's the first time I ever saw a shadow swing a cane and play a clarinet at the same time.

By the way, wasn't it nice of Miss Brooks to donate the gum to the girls in the flapper follies? The girls dug those costumes out of the trunks in their attics. I hear Mary Weber did a fine job in leading the flappers.

The train scene starred Cynthia Brockie and Joe Cappello. Do you want to know what happened when the lights went out in the train? Well lend an ear—the bulb burned out.

If you're wondering who the jerk was behind the soda fountain it was Bob Carter. It seems as though the word "soda" was supposed to be in that sentence somewhere—oh well!

Joanne Havas and Eileen Buzzi, the co-directors, certainly deserved the orchids they received from the cast.

It was a terrific show, and the seniors and juniors really missed something well worth seeing.

Japanese Films Shown to Group

Two films produced in occupied Japan were shown at the Kappa Delta Pi meeting held on January 19. The pictures were made to show the Japanese people how to improve their living conditions.

The first of the films demonstrates how to modernize a kitchen. The plans were worked out by Japanese high school students, with designs for both city and country kitchens.

"Libraries Without Bars," the second film, shows one of the far-reaching aspects of democracy. Under Hirohito, the people were allowed to read only literature which had his approval. Now, since U.S. occupation, they are allowed freedom in selection of literature.

Dr. Vaughn-Eames, advisor of Kappa Delta Pi, had attended a conference of the Commission on Occupied Countries which was held in Washington.

have the jackets by the time the Juniors and Seniors come back from practicum. Orders should be given to section leaders.

Editorial

If you are an ardent visitor of the Tudor Room, you will have noticed complete changes in the behavior of its inmates who normally are normal fellows and girls. Girls laugh hysterically over nothing, while the boys, throwing their chains around, blow billows of smoke through their sophisticated pipes.

"To what could all this be attributed?" you ask. The REFLECTOR has the answer, as usual. Exam time is here, or didn't you know? You can easily see from these observations that this four letter word holds such dire consequences that it can change people's entire behavior.

Exams can be pleasant though (yes, they can!) if you do your work conscientiously all term. We are now beginning a new term. Why not prove it to yourself? Come on! Let's attack those books with renewed vim, vigor, and vitality!

Inferno of American Education

Canto I

Oh "methods" and "curriculum,"
For children four and five
Oh Saint of Student Teachers
Help me to survive.

Canto II

The Doctor rambles on and on,
As I hunch in my seat,
And wish like heck the time would pass

So I could go and eat.

Canto III

He often makes me wonder why
I want to be a teacher
Instead of just a plain dumb
Uneducated creature.

Canto IV

I'd like to shove his "methods" and
"Curriculum" and stuff
Right down his "Meyers and Williams"

Because I've had enough.

—Dante Jr.

Overheard in one of the classrooms: Aren't we having any more tests or exams in this school? It seems as though all we've been getting lately is "inventories." (Some people are never satisfied.)

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

We on the Social Committee would like to thank the following students for taking part in the Christmas Program: Harriet Henick, Irene Pashytnuk, Marie Forcione, Maryann Cirillo, Meryl Gordon, June Dilworth, George Anderson, Lorraine Winnicki, and Lynne Williams. Thanks also to the other students who worked on committees, for their wonderful cooperation in making our Christmas party a success.

Exams Are Over!

by Irene Finkle '54

Eams, exams,
I love those things
When it's time to take 'em
My heart sings.

I love them more
When they are rough
It seems I never Get enough.

Now that they're over
All I can say
Is I wish we'd have 'em
Every day.

Oh, it's late
And I have missed
An appointment with My psychiatrist.

'Round the College

Some very noticeable changes or additions have been made in our school since the beginning of the year. It seems as though the juniors and seniors now out on practicum will come back to some newness in "dear old Newark State."

One of the first, and most outstanding, features added since January began is the new entrance to the print shop in the basement. Since this encloses the steps, we'll just have to find a new place to sit.

As long as we're speaking about the lower part of the school (location is what we mean), we're quite sure you've noticed that the student mail boxes are no longer there. These have been moved to the second floor, next to the men's faculty room, no less. By the way, have you checked to see if you received any mail recently? It could happen, you know!

Another happy note is the one singing out that we've got our beloved coke machine back. But even better yet, it isn't just a coke machine—we've advanced to include cherry soda and root beer. You can have your choice—provided you can read to do so.

The Cafeteria has added something new to make them "look pretty" too. The new ice cream box which is all decked out in chrome and white enamel certainly accomplishes this. Since it's located right next to the cashier's seat, it sort of makes paying a little easier.

Moving up to the first floor, the business office has added a new

Books on Review

Homeward Borne: By Ruth Chatterton. New York; Simon and Schuster; 1950. 312 pps. $3.00

Pax Lyttleton, an average American woman with a husband fighting in the war and a young son, decides to adopt a displaced child. Jan has spent most of his life in a concentration camp and is accustomed only to cruelty. The presence of a Negro maid, Pax's kind ventures, the ordinary things of American life, plus the handicap of language, are all very new and puzzling to him.

Through effective transitions from the present to the past, the author shows what a disturbing influence Jan is to Pax. His actions cause her constantly to remember her past. A child who had little love and affection, she learned to turn to Philip Winslow, a family friend who became her closest friend and confidante.

While in college, she fell in love with Jacob Felder. They planned on marriage but when she met his parents at the college prom, the aura of anti-semitism touched her for the first time and she lost courage. Instead she married Bob Lyttleton, his best friend.

The emotions that now run through her mind cause her to depend on Philip more but he forces her to make her own decisions. Jan in the meantime has been sent away to school, only to return home when his life is too shadowed by prejudice.

When her husband arrives home from war a wounded hero and a changed person, he resents the presence of Jan as a reminder of Jacob. Pax finally has to make a choice between Jan and Bob.

The ending of this story will leave you with the feeling of "I wish I had the courage to do that." It will warm your heart and make you feel that someday right, and not might, will not reign in this world of ours.

This is the first novel by Ruth Chatterton, one of the most famous actresses in America. She handles the plot skillfully and deftly. Her characters are dramatically portrayed and the tumults of emotions that play on Jan are particularly well described. This is a powerful novel—one that should be on everyone's reading list.

mimeograph machine. This one even has a nice new cover, and from the looks of the exams we just finished taking, it works like a charm.

Not to be outdone, the REFLECTOR (office on the second floor) has incorporated something new too. If you've read thus far carefully, as we're sure you do (at least we think you should and hope you do), you have undoubtedly read about some of Newark State's alumni who have "done all right." (page 2) We hope you enjoyed the column since we expect to make alumni news a regular feature.

The REFLECTOR is sorry to say that we haven't found anything really new on the third floor. We're looking forward to starting from

Many Successful Teachers Are Among N.S.T.C. Alumni

Does Newark State do a good job of preparing its students for work in the profession of education? Being so close to the situation here at college perhaps a teacher-to-be sees only where N.S.T.C. could be improved. But "By their fruits ye shall know them." By this test, Newark State is a good teacher-preparation institution. Our college does turn out good teachers. One test (and only one) of professional competence, in any field, is upward progress within the profession. In education that means, in part, teachers becoming principals, supervisors, and administrators.

An incomplete survey reveals, by this test, that Newark State is good. Since we seem to forget Newark State Teachers College has its share of successful graduates, the REFLECTOR will run a series of articles to introduce some of them to the student body.

'College Daze'

Isn't it odd the way letters can turn up in the strangest places? Well, one such "thing" turned up in the Registrar's office. Evidently someone in a "College Daze" was addressing catalogs and instead of sending it to Fourth Avenue, Newark, New Jersey, it was typed in this manner:

Fourth Avenue
January 5, 1950

Aside from the fact that this is now 1951, it was meant for someone just-around-the-corner, so to speak. Isn't it a shame that there is also a Fourth Avenue in Chicago as well as in many other places in the United States? You guessed it, it was returned to us from that far-distant place, Chicago, Illinois.

Large Enrollment Seen for Fall

Although Registration for freshmen and sophomores was completed on Monday, January 29, and for seniors and juniors was finished before practicum started, those in the Registrar's office still have a headache. Applications have been pouring in for the new term to begin in September. In spite of the fact that some colleges have stated that their next enrollments seem to be dropping slightly, we are still getting them "full force."

Draft Is Topic on "Town Meeting"

On Tuesday, January 30, "America's Town Meeting" turned its attention to a subject of vital interest to all of us today.

The topic was "Should 18-Year-Olds Be Drafted for Military Service and Training?" The affirmative speaker was Dr. James Phinney Baxter, President of Williams College. Norman Thomas was on the negative side. The interrogators were Col. Chandler Cobb, New York City director of Selective Service, and Dr. Alonzo Myers, Chairman of the Department of Higher Education, New York University.

We are sure that all those who have listened to this program previously will agree that Tuesday's broadcast was highly informative and stimulating.

Well, as far as the people on Ye Paper staff have noticed, that's all folks! But take it from us, it looks like a good start for the New Year.

Some right here in Newark are Mrs. E. D. Caveria (1924), principal of the Charlton St. School and Catherine Blewitt (1925), vice-principal of the Madison Jr. High School, while Margaret Bartone (1914) is vice-principal of McKinley St. School.

We have some supervisors in the alumni ranks also. Charles Dilks (1934) supervises Industrial Arts in Wilmington, Delaware. A 1909 graduate, Lillian Geisser is the supervisor of elementary education in Newark, while R. O. Harthmann of the class of 1928 has charge of Industrial Arts in Jersey City.

Marian Quinn (1923) is supervisor of Fine Arts and Mary Leonard (1924), supervisor of elementary education in our neighboring town of Elizabeth. Also in Elizabeth is Mary Hopkins (1922), principal of P.C. No. 12. Roy Pollino (1938) is director of the Columbia Institute there.

Not all of our graduates are principals and supervisors, however. Mrs. Evelyn Chester (1922) is the 1951 president of the Essex County Educational Association while Albert Ciccone (1934) is business manager of the N. J. Vocational and Arts Association Magazine. In the Union Township school system, Elizabeth Huntington (1925) is the curriculum coordinator.

Walter Kahn (1936) is the director of Education, Recreation, and Occupational Therapy in Delaware City, Delaware, while Walter Pezoa, also of 1936, is librarian in the Clinton Branch of the Newark Public Library.

These are just a few of our notable successes. Next issue will bring you more.

On Dieting

by Irene Finkle, '54

When company comes
They talk about
Eating and diets
And growing stout.
They worry and fret
About gaining weight
Then sigh because dinner
Is five minutes late.
When it's ready at last
They race to the table
And start grabbing food
As fast as they're able.
When dinner is over,
They sit very quiet
And think, "Tomorrow,
I'll start on that diet."

Sharps & Flats

by Stephen DeMaio

At the Mosque on Saturday, January 27, 1951, at eight P.M. there will be a Verdi Memorial Concert in honor of the 50th anniversary of his death. Tickets were sold to benefit the "Boys Town of Italy."

I have been told that "Bless You All" and "Guys and Dolls" are lavish musical hits.

If you are a Wagnerian fan, then you will enjoy the Metropolitan Opera's next two Saturday Matinee performances of "Das Rheingold" (and I don't mean the beer either) and "Die Walkure." Tune station WJZ at 2 o'clock.

At the St. James theater in New York City, the D'Oyley Carte Opera Co. of London will present Gilbert and Sullivan Operettas:

January 29 to Feb. 3, "The Mikado"; Feb. 5 to Feb. 10, "Trial by Jury" and "H.M.S. Pinafore."

Get your tickets for the "Boston Symphony Orchestra" on Feb. 15, at the Mosque, Charles Munch, conducting. (Take it from me, it's a rare treat!)

In conclusion, my quotation of the week is—

"When I hear music, I fear no danger. I am invulnerable, I see no foe, I am related to the earliest times and to the latest!"

—H. D. Thoreau

Brother & Sister

The formal installation of the pledges of Delta Sigma Pi Sorority was held on Monday, January 15, 1951 at the Tavern Restaurant, Newark. After the installation and dinner the pledges, Meryl Gordon, Frances Lichter, Beryl Kargaroff and Lillian Dardik, were taken to New York where the sorority attended the show, "Ring Around the Room."

Socialites

Ann Underwood and Don Kahrman, both of Newark State, were engaged on Christmas eve. Ann is a freshman in the Kindergarten-Primary curriculum and Don is a Fine Arts senior. Both are from New Brunswick.

Another fiancée is blonde Nancy Jaeger who became engaged to Mr. Kenneth Manning of Woodbridge at Christmas time. Nancy is Alpha Theta Pi, and a sophomore in the General Elementary curriculum. Mr. Manning is with Bell Telephone Company.

Gloria Glassman became engaged to Mr. Melvin Franzblau on December 20. Gloria is also a soph G.E. She lives in Kearny, while her fiancé is a Perth Amboy resident. Mr. Franzblau is now in the Navy.

A Christmas eve bride was Barbara Cooper of Hillside. Her husband, Mr. Irwin Kurtz, is a medical student at Syracuse University. Barbara is a General Elementary sophomore.

On January 6, the former Jean Orlando was married to Mr. Russell Stanley in Springfield. Jean is another soph G.E., while Mr. Stanley is a senior at Montclair State Teachers College.

Terry Leone, our own Reflector editor-in-chief, became engaged to Mr. John W. Henderson on December 30. Mr. Henderson is in the Navy. Terry is a Junior.

Joe Chagnon, who was a soph G.E. here at the beginning of the semester and was called back to the Marine Corps, was married to the former Irma Rodrigues during the New Year's week-end. Mrs. Chagnon is formerly of Elizabeth.

Interest Shown in Girls' Basketball

During the 1950-1951 season of girls' basketball, the girls have thus far scored a glorious victory in developing a love for practice, good sportsmanship, and fair play among all the members.

Each team, determined to make this a great season, began practice early in October. Miss "Bunny" Schneider once again took the position of coach. After the captains developed their starting line-ups, the intramural contests began. With all the hard work held in the gym on Thursday afternoons, no one has been able to knock the "Subnormals" out of top place.

With the start of the new year, the teams have been practicing for their scheduled games with other colleges. Definite dates have been made with Drew University and Fairleigh Dickinson College. Tentative dates have been set with Jersey City State Teachers College and Paterson State Teachers College. The first three of these games will be played away, but the game with Paterson State will be a home game.

The only outside game that has been played so far was that against St. Michael's. Although both teams played a good game, St. Michael's proved the stronger, and won with a score of 42-33. Rita Hekker was high scorer in this game with 15 points.

Girls' basketball team ready for action.

Army Nips State In Last Seconds

A last desperate but decisive shot by Herb Urshel gave the Army B team victory in the closing seconds of their encounter with our Black Knights at the huge West Point gym. Led by high scorer Allan Cohn, Newark piled up a good substantial lead in the first half and it looked like victory was in sight for our fighting men. Then in the second half Army started to take its toll and outscored our boys 24-17 cutting their lead by 2 points. This is where the fatal shot by Urshel in the last seconds beat our Black Knights. Our boys gave Army a big scare as well as a surprise, and are looking forward to next year's encounter.

Newark Romps Jersey City

Led by Allan Cohn and Wade Likens, Newark State rolled over a desperate Jersey City team on January 20. Paving the victory with fine scoring and defensive play was Wade Likens who looked as though he owned the Jersey City team. In one part of the game, the kid stole the ball several times in a row and proceeded to sink the same. Bill Lusto, Jersey City captain, played a fine game both offensively and defensively as he scored 26 points and held the Jersey City team together. After the third quarter, Coach Jannerone put in our second team to finish the game with a score of 69-56.

Girls' Softball Gets Good Start

Freshman girls gym classes under the guidance of Mr. D'Angola, played their first two games of the season in their indoor softball tournament on Monday, January 29, 1951. The first game saw Section 2 down Section 1 only after a see-saw battle, with the victors nipping Section 1 by two runs. In the second game, Section 6 romped because of the outstanding pitching of Barbara Kollarik, terrific slugging, and faultless fielding of her supporting team mates. Mr. D'Angola, with the able assistance of Bill La Russo, umpired the contests.

Frosh Down Nutley And Bloomfield Five

Led by Bill La Russo and Neil Kastelein the freshman team vanquished a weak Nutley five by a 63 to 17 score. From the opening whistle the issue was never in doubt as Newark quickly jumped to a 10 to 1 lead, which they increased to 19-6 at the quarter. Newark continued the barrage in the second quarter and led 31-11 at the half. Of the 31 total in the first half La Russo and Kastelein hit for 21.

The second half was the same as the first, Newark again running up a lopsided score. On this half the visitors were outscored 32-6.

Bill La Russo took game-scoring honors with 20 points, ten in each half. La Russo was closely followed by teammate Neil Kastelein who had 17.

A basket by Dan Laukzewis in the last thirty seconds of play enabled the frosh to post a 45-43 victory over Bloomfield College at Glen Ridge High School. With Bloomfield leading 43-42 Laukzewis hit with a beautiful one-hander to give Newark its margin of victory. Neil Kastelein then added a technical foul shot to clinch the game. Newark led at the half by three points 27-24, but after the intermission Bloomfield caught five and up until two minutes to go led by six, 43-37. Then Newark began to roll with Ray Arciszewski hitting with a set and lay-up, Kastelein with a foul and Laukzewis with his game winning basket. Laukzewis was Newark's high man for the game with 9 points. Furdock of Bloomfield took scoring honors with 19.

Likens Stars In Victory

With Wade Likens pouring in 13 points and Jack Smith playing his usual fine defensive game, Newark Teachers defeated a stubborn Bloomfield College Five 41-38. Newark led at halftime 20-17 and held a slight lead throughout the game. Ernie Frino and Al Cohn, Newark's Stardust Twins, were held to only 17 points between them. The win was the fifth of the season for our courtsters.

Highlights in Sports

by DAN PORZIO

Montclair Teachers, Upsala, F.D. Top 1951 Baseball Slate

Coach Gus Jannerone, former semi-pro pitching great, will start his first season at the helm of the baseball squad on Feb. 15th when initial workouts for the coming season get under way. Jannerone hopes all men interested in baseball will report to the gym at 3 P.M.

This season, the youthful mentor has booked a tough schedule for our collegiate nine. Montclair Teachers, Upsala, Fairleigh Dickinson, Paterson Teachers, Bloomfield College, Newark College of Engineering, Jersey City Teachers, and Panzer will all be encountered by the Black Knights on a ten game schedule. For our tough opponents Jannerone has on hand a host of letter-men from last season's squad.

Infield Prospects Bright

1950's inner defense of Ray Arciszewsky, Al Cohn, Daniel Porzio, and Joe Bellina is still intact and back for another season. Also back is Chuck Whichard, substitute first sacker, who was a valuable pinch-hitter for George McMeen's men last spring.

A look at last season's starting quintet shows Raymond Arciszewsky batted .333 and fielded magnificently. Allan Cohn played good ball at short stop and finished up with a .240 batting average. Dan Porzio, after a slow start edged out Dan Shapiro for the second base job and finished strong, raising his average to .260. Joe Bellina looked great around the initial sack and batted .272. During the latter half of the season, Jim Blakey was switched to first base to make room for Tony Palmisano behind the plate. Blakey led the squad in runs batted in and finished up with a .290 batting average. Palmisano, with a strong arm and plenty of spirit and hustle, will try to prove this spring that he deserves the No. 1 catching berth. "Yogi" will have plenty of competition in newcomer Art Frelinghaus, Walt Cross, and possibly Blakey if Jannarone decides to use the former Columbia star behind the bat instead of first base.

A new quartet consisting of Wade Likens, Bill La Russo, Harry Morsch and Andrew Klein will try to prove they are ready to crash the lineup. Likens pitched and played first base for St. Michael's High School in gaining All-State recognition in 1948. Wade also led the Paterson Teachers ball club last season in batting with a .315 batting mark.

Thirteen Vets Back

New Prospects Seek Starting Berths

Frank Marmo, speedy fly chaser, with a .333 mark in 1950, Chick Ippolito, possessing the best throwing arm in this area, and Barney Tonneson are back to fight for their outfield jobs. Reserves Bill Schaeffer and Hal Kedersha will be in the thick of the battle. Only outfielders not returning from last year's outfield are John Mastroeon who batted .300 and presently teaching at Kearny High School, and Felix Palomba who has transferred to Upsala.

The pitching under the guidance of Jannerone should be good. Nick Sivalella who starred at Lyndhurst High School and sophomore Hank Goehl and Wade Likens will team with Hobie, Ippolito and Marmo from last year's mound crew. Jannerone hopes he can pick up some good hitters on the Feb. 15th tryout date. So come out all you prospective stars and let's see what you can do for the old Alma Mater.

Frino Nears Chernetsky's All-Time Record

Cohn Nears 1,000 Mark

Ernie Frino

Allan Cohn

Al Cohn and Ernie Frino, two of Newark State's all-time greats, are presently driving towards two scoring records. Cohn is gunning for 1,000 mark and thus will be the first player in State's history to hurdle this huge objective. To date including his 37 points in his last game, Cohn has scored 809 points in his career and with 11 games on the schedule will undoubtedly score the 191 points he needs to reach his goal.

Cohn's teammate, Ernest Frino, a sensational freshman performer who also scored 37 points last time out, is out to break Sam Chernetsky's freshman record. Back in 1935 Chernetsky scored 242 points. Babe Shapiro, former Weequahic High star scored 225 points in 1948 but missed the record by 17 markers. To date Frino has scored 142 points and needs an even 100 points in 11 games to top the record. The Reflector is hoping both boys successfully break both records and add a new chapter in State's Athletic History.

State Breaks All Court Records In 93 to 29 Rout of N.B.I.

Newark State Teachers College broke the all-time scoring mark by crushing National Bible Institute of New York, 93-29. The previous high for a Newark team was 75 points back in 1935 when Sam Chernetsky led his teammates with a 32 point outburst. On January 5th State's Ernie Frino and Al Cohn poured in 37 points apiece to pace the rout. Jack Smith played a leading role, feeding both boys brilliantly.

A.A. Meeting Held

At the Athletic Association meeting held on January 8, no definite decision was reached on the question of an insurance policy for covering possible injuries to the boys on the basketball and baseball teams. The question was referred for more discussion.

The members decided to distribute old basketball equipment among the Athletic Clubs of Newark.

Frino, Cohn Earn All-City Court Berths

The Sports Department of the Reflector in cooperation with the local coaches, referees and spectators at many collegiate tilts thus far this season have spoken and selected an All-City Collegiate Team for 1950-51. Following this All-City team we will also select All-County and All-State squads in future issues.

Our first team for All-City honors packs plenty of scoring punch besides excellent men for backboard work. Probably the outstanding player in the city is Billy Musto, high scoring forward of Rutgers Pharmacy. At the other forward spot is Allan Cohn, one of the state's top scorers last season. "Zoom" Fleischer of Newark College of Engineering is at center and Charley Lubetkin, another N.C.E. lad, is at one of the guard posts. Lubetkin is the playmaker of the squad and is a speedy driving guard who rates as one of the most aggressive players in the area. Ernest Frino, sensational Newark Teacher player fills out the quintet. Frino is the lone Freshman on the squad and his backboard work and scoring ability ranks him as one of the best all around players in the state according to Coach Gus Jannerone.
